We hear the language “follower of Jesus” all the time, but what does it mean to be a disciple? It’s an entire life’s pursuit; a “way” of life in community around the teachings of Jesus. To live this way means we need to be transformed, from the inside out. Is this kind of deep, authentic radical change of character possible? Really? Even in the chaos of the modern, digital, urban world? The answer is: absolutely yes. Through teaching, practice, community, and the Holy Spirit, we can recover our humanity in apprenticeship to Jesus. In this series we will begin to explore what this looks like!

So imagine growing up as an actual half brother of Jesus, watching it all unfold, then spending the rest of your days serving the blossoming Jesus movement in Jerusalem, helping to lead the “followers of the way” until you get killed for it. Well that was James (Jacob actually) and thankfully we have access to the legacy of his teaching ministry in the circular letter that bears his name. This term we’ll be exploring this often overlooked writing, that not only is the earliest bit of the New Testament, but also has so much to say to followers of the way in 2018.
